

What is EIDO Educate?

EIDO Educate is a comprehensive e-learning course with a simple goal: to train health professionals in the medico-legal principles of consent to treatment. The course has been accredited for 10 CPD points by the Association of Surgeons of Great Britain and Ireland.

Never before has it been so important for clinicians to have a proper understanding of their responsibilities, and to obtain consent to treatment within the boundaries set by the law.

In 2015 the Supreme Court issued its landmark judgement in the case of Montgomery v Lanarkshire Health Board, profoundly changing the landscape of consent. The new approach is now unambiguously patient-centred, and health professionals must learn how to adapt to it.

How does EIDO Educate work?

EIDO Educate is structured in a modular fashion, and begins by covering the basic foundations of consent in four core modules.

CORE MODULES

- 1 Consent and the Law
- 2 Consent in Practice
- 3 Capacity and Consent
- 4 Adult End-of-Life Issues

In addition there are four specialist modules, covering areas in which consent law can be particularly complex:

SPECIALIST MODULES

- 1 Obstetrics
- 2 Paediatrics
- 3 Accident and Emergency
- 4 Research and Innovative Treatment

Content updates

The law concerning consent to treatment is complex, and constantly evolving as new cases are decided by the courts. EIDO Educate is updated each year to incorporate these changes in the law, and ensure that health professionals are always kept up to date.

Delivery and implementation

The EIDO Educate modules are supplied as Learning Management System (LMS) compatible packages, allowing them to be quickly installed on a hospital learning management system and rolled out to users. Alternatively, the course can be accessed via a standalone website, requiring users to self-register.
